Summary: Balthazar Korab is one of the three most significant American architectural photographers of the second half of the 20th century. His collection documents America's architectural ascendancy in the post-WWII period, including the works of famous architects such as Frank Lloyd Wright, Eero Saarinen, I. M. Pei, and more. Korab's interests also include the Prairie and Chicago Schools of architecture, Italian architecture, American automobile culture, the Midwest, historic houses, sculptures, and natural environments.

Processing History

The bulk of the Balthazar Korab Collection was received in 2011 with a small additional transmittal received in 2019. Between 2018 and 2020, the collection was processed by staff in the Prints and Photographs Division, including Emma Esperon (lead archivist), Maggie McCready, Kristen Sosinski, Gillian Mahoney, Heidrun Perez, Erin Ebert, Laura Bell, Joshua Burrell, Libby McKiernan, Michelle An, Tori Cox, Maya Reid, and Nicholas Pernot. Oversize materials, optical discs, and nitrate negatives were moved by Library Staff to separate storage locations for optimal preservation conditions. Separation notices and surrogate images of relocated materials have also been placed in the coordinating folder in the collection. Digitizing and born digital work done by Chris Masciangelo and Phil Michel. Online Finding Aid created by Emma Esperon and Ryan Brubacher in January 2020.

The Eero Saarinen Book Project, 2005-2008 (formerly known as Balthazar Korab collection of photographs showing Eero Saarinen architecture) was gifted to the Library in 2007. Between 2007 and 2008 all images were digitized, captioned, and cataloged by Prints and Photographs staff including: C. Ford Peatross, Mary Christ, Phil Michel, and others as well as assistance from David G. De Long. CSC of Chantilly, Virginia scanned the slides, transparencies and negatives in 2008. Emma Esperon and Ryan Brubacher added the content to the Balthazar Korab Collection finding aid in July 2020.

Additional Guides

For more information about the entire collection, refer to the Collection Guide

Transfers

4 DVDs and 7 VHSs were transferred to the Moving Image Research Center (MBRS) at the Library of Congress. More information about the Research Center can be found at their Homepage and Contact Page. Separation notices and surrogate images of the covers of the audio visual materials have been placed in the relevant folder in the collection.

Rights Restrictions

There are no known restrictions on the use of photographs in the Balthazar Korab Collection. However privacy rights may apply, especially for photographs of residences. There are potential restrictions for the manuscript materials and a small number of photographs in this collection that retained rights protection by special arrangement with Mr. Korab or may have been created by third parties and not by Mr. Korab or his employees. Please visit the Balthazar Korab Collection Rights Statement on the Prints and Photographs Reading Room website.

For more general rights information, please read: Copyright and Other Restrictions That Apply to Publication/Distribution of Images: Assessing the Risk of Using a P&P Image

Access Restrictions

The Balthazar Korab Collection is open for research. Advance notice is needed to view materials in this collection, which is stored offsite. Requests to view original collection materials may be submitted through Ask A Librarian, or by paper form in the Prints and Photographs Reading Room. Some materials are already digitized. As a preservation measure, we generally do not serve an original item when a digital image is available. Some materials may require gloves for handling.

A limited amount of material in the collection is restricted, and is marked in the finding aid as such.

Original nitrate negatives are not available for viewing. Surrogate images of all nitrate negatives are available. See the Online Image Records \(Digitized Items\) section for more information.

Requesting Materials

Researchers should make requests at least 10 business days in advance of an anticipated visit, by selecting folders from the Balthazar Korab Collection finding aid. All requests should be submitted through Ask A Librarian or in person in the Prints and Photographs Reading Room. Requests must include the Box Number, Project Title, and Call Number for each folder. e.g. Box 117 Miller House and Garden, Interiors KORAB F1836

Because of space and resource constraints, the amount that can be requested at one time is limited: Researchers may request up to 10 folders from no more than 5 boxes per request and should allow 10 business days after the call slip is received before arriving to view the material. All requests should be submitted through Ask A Librarian or in person in the Prints and Photographs Reading Room. If more material is needed for viewing in a single visit, please consult reference staff regarding the feasibility of arranging for more material to be brought onsite and the time needed to make it available. Once materials are ready, they will be placed on hold for 30 days before being returned to the off-site location. One 30-day extension is permitted.

For additional information about service in the Prints and Photographs Reading Room, including obtaining copies, see "Information for Researchers."

Navigating the Finding Aid

Each entry in the finding aid gives the Project Title (including date if provided), Extent (amount and format of items), Call Number, and when appropriate Architect, Alternate Project Titles, Location, and Views (e.g. interior, exterior). When available we provide related contributor names in the Architect field. In most cases, the text on the folder from the Korab Office was used for the Project Title. Because abbreviations were used by Korab frequently, staff provided the expanded name in the Notes field, if known. For example, SOM will also include "Skidmore Owings and Merrill" and DIA will also include "Detroit Institute of Art", so that you can get the same results with either search. Additional text recorded on the folder, when legible, was transcribed in the Notes. Spelling errors have been corrected to aid searching.

In general, it may be easiest to start with a search of the principal architect's name. However, there are no single headings to cover all variations of a firm or principal architect's career. For example, you would need to search for HEPY, HED, HECS, HEA, and other iterations in addition to individuals' names, e.g. Harley or Ellington. Whichever grouping made up the firm at the time of a specific design/construction project is usually listed.

You can narrow search results by adding search terms like project name or location. If you don't get enough results, try broadening your search to a more generic location, the name of the most famous person or organization involved, or part of a Project Title. Try alternate names for famous buildings, as well as names of clients and related contributors. While landscape designers and interior designers are sometimes listed as related names, you may have to rely on a search of the primary architect to find all folders for a given project.

Projects will have significant amounts of material in more than one area of the Finding Aid. Do not stop your searching after a single hit.

Online Image Records (Digitized Items)

All digitized or born digital images may be searched together from the Korab Collection page or by using Korab as a search term in our Online Catalog. The majority of the collection is not digitized and may be searched through this finding aid, which provides descriptions at a folder level.

Eero Saarinen book project, 2005-2008	Over 700 images were selected by Balthazar Korab to document 19 projects designed by architect Eero Saarinen. The images were digitized by CSC of Chantilly, Virginia using an overhead capture Sinar 54 digital camera beginning in 2008. Each was scanned at a resolution of approximately 5,000 pixels on the long side with the short side scaled in proportion.
Nitrate Film Negatives	All nitrate film (about 650 frames) has been scanned in entirety at a medium resolution, displayed as computer generated contact sheets. High resolution scans from this film can be purchased through Duplication Services. For safety reasons, nitrate negatives are not served.
Balthazar Korab Original Digital Materials	The collection has a small component of optical discs that contained approximately 1,200 born digital and supplied surrogate images, as well as presentation files. Image quality reflects that of the original file provided on the optical disc.
Digitized On Demand	Images that have been digitized in response to researchers' purchase of reproductions and created in the course of Library of Congress special projects.

Biographical Note

Balthazar Korab was born in Budapest, Hungary in 1926. In his youth, he traveled throughout Europe and attended school in Paris at the École des Beaux-Arts. In 1955 Korab began working as an architect for Eero Saarinen at his office in Bloomfield Hills, Michigan. Korab's work in the office afforded him the opportunity to develop his craft as both an architect and as a photographer. Korab first experimented and explored photography's uses in documenting working models and finished structures with projects in the Saarinen office. His work expanded to include photography of buildings during construction, completed works, and renovations. He was later hired to do similar work by leading architects such as Frank Lloyd Wright, I. M. Pei, Minoru Yamasaki, William Kessler, Gunnar Birkerts, Caudill Rowlett Scott (CRS), Rossetti, and other renowned architects and firms.

Scope and Content Note

The Balthazar Korab Collection of over 542,000 images is amazing for its breadth and depth - covering many different countries and topics ranging from flowers to city night life; but offering intense coverage of specific topics and locations such as the barns of the Midwest, the architecture of Eero Saarinen, or the roof-scapes of Rome. The collection spans over six decades and ranges from 35 mm to 4 x5 inch black & white negatives to color transparencies of all sizes and some digital formats.

Known for iconic images of modernist architectural masterpieces, Korab was especially skilled in the use of color photography. His work on commissions from major 20th century architects makes up the bulk of the collection material. In addition to his commercial work, the collection also reveals his personal interest in extensively photographing the Midwest, parts of Europe, and American car culture among other topics.

The photographs in the Eero Saarinen Book Project, 2005-2008 are a selection by Korab of over 700 photographs documenting 19 projects designed by renowned architect Eero Saarinen (1910-1961). Included are airports, churches, corporate headquarters, embassies, private residences, university facilities, and the monumental arch of St. Louis. Korab captured their development in the 1950s and 1960s from model and site plan through construction to finished exteriors and interiors.

His Midwestern United States work focuses heavily on two states, Indiana and Michigan. Korab started working in Indiana to photograph Saarinen's designs for a residence commissioned by the community business leader and patron of architecture, J. Irwin Miller. For several decades afterwards, Korab continued to photograph the architectural gems concentrated in the town of Columbus, Indiana. Korab visits produced photographs for most of the schools and public buildings commissioned by the Cummins Foundation Architecture Program. In Michigan he balanced commissions to document modernist structures with personal interest in city and rural views, historic neighborhoods, and natural life in his home state. This led to extensive surveys of Detroit, Kalamazoo, and Cranbrook, as well as vernacular architecture throughout the country.

In addition to documenting the American built environment, Korab also traveled extensively and captured significant architecture and landscapes around the world including: France, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Mexico, China, and most significantly Italy. Korab lived in Italy for a number of years and documented the great flood in Florence in 1966, Tuscan towns and villas, and the roof-scapes of Rome.

Arrangement

The collection is arranged by Project Title according to Korab's filing system. Within each folder materials are organized sequentially by media type: photographs and prints, contact sheets, manuscript material, color transparencies, black & white negatives, color slides, and other visual materials. Not all negatives have corresponding prints, but most prints have corresponding negatives or transparencies. Korab's collection also contained binder portfolios which were disbound for collection safety. These materials are preserved in original order from the binder and are marked accordingly.

The original folder order often goes through themes, grouping materials alphabetically by architect's name, Project Title, thematically by content, dates, or rejected/duplicated materials. A portion of the finding aid is organized roughly by State rather than Projects, with folders representing 39 U.S. states. Additionally, a range of folders organized by general topics (starting at KORAB F1900), includes categories that span locations, such as "Barns."

This means that one project may have content in many different folders or areas of the collection, making keyword searching within the finding aid pivotal to getting a comprehensive view of relevant materials in the collection.

Artist Choice File

In some cases, the Korab Office removed materials from folders before transferring the collection to the Library of Congress. The removal is generally indicated by a blue or green Artist Choice removal sheet left in the folder. To the best of our knowledge, the Artist Choice selections have been relocated to folders KORAB F3911 to KORAB F4166 and KORAB F9664 to KORAB F9781.

Markings Found on Original Materials

White slips with the phrase "Intentionally left blank" were placed by Library staff to help note that items are not missing from negative and slide sheets.

Yellow and yellow-green round stickers were used by the Korab Office staff and are often placed on empty sleeves as call slips for negatives removed by employees. Oftentimes the sticker has the initials of the person or organization that borrowed the negatives. Ex: CMK is Christian M. Korab, LOC is the Library of Congress.

Some negatives were numbered by the Korab Office, and you can occasionally use this to identify prints and variations from a negative. These have not been correlated, not all negatives have prints, although most prints have corresponding negatives.

Eero Saarinen Book Project, 2005-2008

All images have been digitized and are available on our Online Catalog

The Eero Saarinen Book Project, 2005-2008 photographs are a selection by Korab of over 700 photographs documenting 19 projects designed by renowned architect Eero Saarinen (1910-1961). Included are airports, churches, corporate headquarters, embassies, private residences, university facilities, and the monumental arch of St. Louis. Korab captured their development in the 1950s and 1960s from model and site plan through construction to finished exteriors and interiors.
